EMAIL SECURITY IN THE CLOUD OR ON-PREMISES

Email security is quintessential when it comes down to installing cybersecurity measures. Without a professional solution to stop unwanted email flooding inboxes, a business could very well lose its competitive edge. Protecting a company's reputation by filtering outgoing traffic is as important as employing cohesive incoming filtering software - if legitimate IPs get blacklisted, authentic messages might not reach their designated targets because they are considered to come from untrusted sources, which, in turn, becomes a more than pesky situation to take care of. Besides filtering, in this day and age, a business needs to archive for legal compliance and data protection as well.

Challenges

Prior to installing the SpamExperts suite of email security products, DiaMatrix dealt with spam by making use of a competitor solution. Needing a more accurate software, DiaMatrix sought after a new and more efficient product to filter both their incoming and outgoing traffic as well as take care of their email archiving requirements.

Customer profile

Implementation

The implementation process was kick-started after DiaMatrix found SpamExperts to tick all their check boxes at a WHD.global event. After everything was sorted, the SpamExperts team worked closely with DiaMatrix staff to ensure that the software installation went as smoothly as possible, with no hiccups along the way.

Benefits

SpamExperts, besides offering a high filtering accuracy, is also known for its ease of integration, which DiaMatrix notes as solving one of their main problems. With everything implemented, the Incoming Filtering & Outgoing Filtering products were set in motion to protect the South African company's networks and users, and adhering to international laws of safe-keeping email was made possible by opting for the SpamExperts Email Archiving product.

Target Reached

"To simply put it, SpamExperts works very well at filtering spam and viruses. We are absolutely satisfied with our choice. We've been clients since August of 2015 and I can't think of a better solution to subscribe to: fast, efficient and affordable," said Dave Strydom, CTO DiaMatrix.
