CASE STUDY
TRANS-IX B.V.

Local Cloud » SaaS Managed Email Security in the cloud » Incoming Filter » Outgoing Filter » Email Archiving » API » Clusterable » Synchronized » Scalable

Employing professional email filtering solutions means exercising safe technology as well as arming strong security policies to combat spam threats. A business that provides industry-proficient protection against unsolicited email, that may contain viruses, malware, phishing attempts, and other such hazards, will always be on top of its competitors due to saving valuable resources and focusing on more crucial company day-to-day components. SpamExperts provides Incoming & Outgoing Filtering, as well as Email Archiving, efficiently, effectively and round the clock in over 100 countries across the world.

Quick Read

Trans-iX B.V. started in the late 90s as an attic-room Dutch hosting company created by two friends. With the mission and vision that hosting should be beneficial, understandable and easy to apply by anyone, Trans-iX quickly found out that the attic room had no more space to hold servers, so appropriate migration to a data center was in the works. With years of experience backing them up, the Dutch company is one of the key players in the industry.

Challenges

The main issue with spam for Trans-iX B.V. was that it impacted network reputation, leading to damages, and the company experienced high loads on servers. The Web Host first tackled the issue by utilizing the open-source SpamAssassin platform and an in-house developed solution. The fix worked at the beginning, but rapidly lost expertise as it wasn't capable to adapt to the ever-evolving spam trends.

Implementation

After searching for a professional solution, Trans-iX B.V. sought SpamExperts upon recommendation. Testing filtering services led to the company acquiring a year-long subscription and opting for the Local Cloud deployment, as the Web Host likes to keep everything in its very own data centers. Support teams were on track with installing the required software and handled the process all the way.

Benefits

After SpamExperts Incoming & Outgoing Filtering services were installed via the Local Cloud deployment, spam was no longer an issue of concern . With this huge blister out of the way, Trans-iX B.V. has taken a load off servers and increased network reputation.

Target Reached

"Once we saw that everything was working accordingly, we started offering it to more customers on the go. If they are happy, that means we are happy. We aren't straying away from our mission and vision, and SpamExperts is helping us maintain our promise every step of the way," explains Diederik Wennekes, COO Trans-iX B.V.
